

MAS Retirement Savings Scheme

Conservative Fund

Quarterly Fund Fact Sheet as at 30 September 2025

Market commentary

Global share markets extended their rally through the September quarter, supported by widespread interest rate cuts and optimism around artificial intelligence. The US share market led the charge, recording its strongest September in 15 years. This led to a robust 8.1% gain for the quarter. European markets were more subdued, weighed down by political uncertainty and trade tensions, while Australian shares rose solidly with the Reserve Bank of Australia cutting interest rates.

The Reserve Bank of NZ (RBNZ) lowered the Official Cash Rate (OCR) to 3.0% in August. However, it was a weak GDP growth number that saw the RBNZ take decisive action in October, cutting the OCR by 0.50%, down to 2.5%. Further easing is expected. Despite the sluggish backdrop, the New Zealand share market delivered a healthy 5.5% gain, buoyed by lower rates and investor confidence.
